What does it mean to protect my identity and finances?

We share all kinds of personal, private, and sensitive information online every day. Your information is valuable, so you should have the tools to help yourself and your family feel secure when it comes to protecting your identity.

Identity

The Threat	Our Solution
New or existing account fraud	LifeLock Identity Alerts
New credit account fraud	Financial protection; credit monitoring

How can I grow and manage my finances?

Norton Money is included in your Norton LifeLock Benefit Plan. It helps you monitor all your money in one place, track spending, check your credit score, and spot potential issues early — all within a secure Norton experience. No setup headaches. No spreadsheets. Just a clearer view of your finances.

† We do not monitor all transactions at all businesses.

How can I protect my online life?

As part of the digital generation, many of our day-to-day activities occur online. Whether that is checking email, shopping, banking, or even just chatting with friends, we so often find ourselves on our devices.

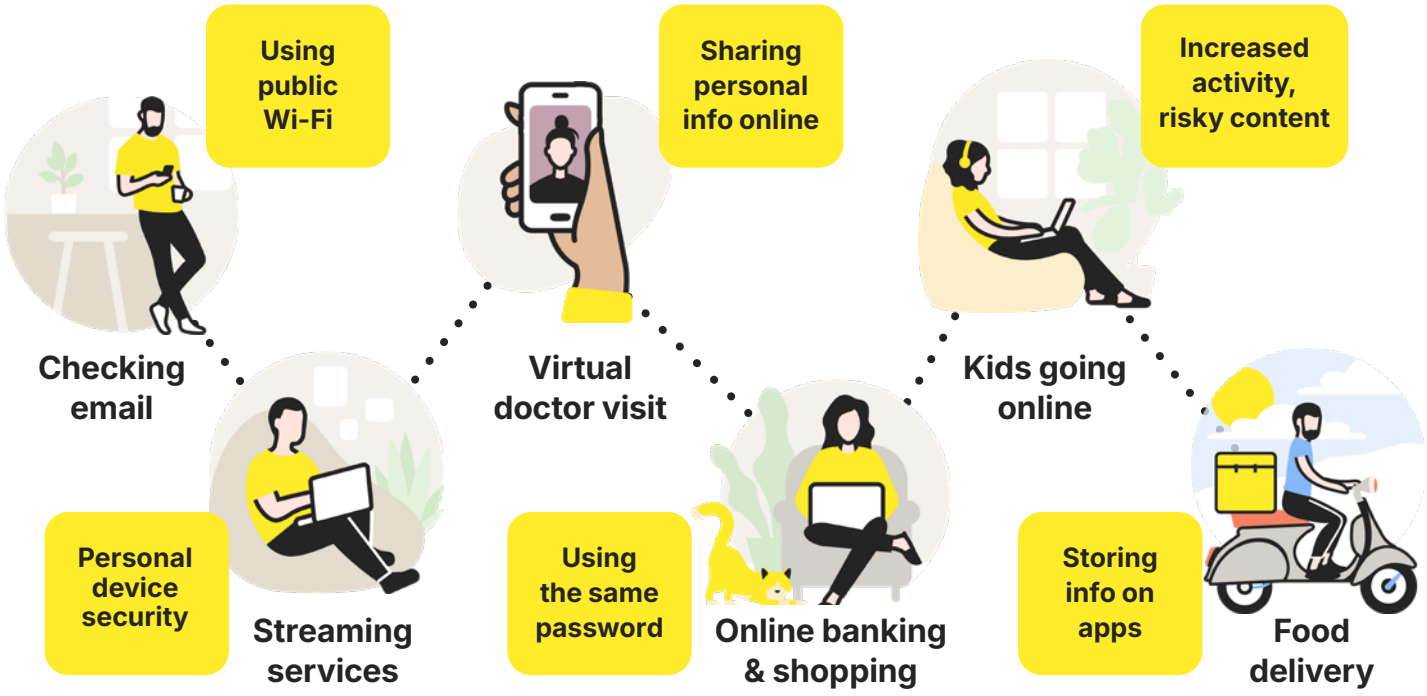

The Threat

- Phishing emails leads to malware on computer
- Same passwords lead to compromised accounts

Our Solution

- Scam Protection Pro
- Password Manager

Security

Our multi-layered, advanced security helps protect devices against existing and emerging malware threats, including ransomware, and helps protect private and financial information when you go online.

Why is my online privacy important?

Cybercriminals are always looking for new ways to access and use your personal information for their personal gain. It is important to protect yourself against these threats as they are constantly evolving.

Privacy

The Threat	Our Solution
Shopping online with a credit card stored on PC	Secure VPN
Children stumble into inappropiate web content account fraud	Child online safety tools (Parental Control)

Norton LifeLock Benefit Plans help protect devices on vulnerable connections through bankgrade encryption on Secure VPN to keep information private. We also scan common public people search websites for your information and help you easily opt-out.

Not only your privacy, but your family's as well. Norton Family Parental Control* will help you:

- Know at a glance when and where your kids spend time online.
- Use simple settings to make the web safer for kids to explore.
- protect kids' private information.
- Gain valuable insights that lead to open, informed conversations.
- Teach balance and healthy habits without taking away kids' freedom.
- Easily protect your kids' devices with a single solution.
